How They Freeze It.

A Ledger reporter yesterday paid a isit to the plant of the Mexico Ice company and learned the following facts regarding the manufacture of that now much-sought-for article that aids in keeping mankind cool this hot weather while the mercury is sizzling around the 100 point in the thermometer.

Mr. Wohlgemuth, the urbane manager, said that it is only within the last ten or fifteen years that the making of artificial ice has become a general inblood, upon which not only health but life dustry and it is a little over thirty years since the first really successful ice ma chine was set up in this country. The earliest of successful ice makers was a brought out a fairly workable machine built on what is known as the absorption system. The most approved sys tem, however, is that of compression. It s this system also which is playing sad havoc with natural ice, such as northern lake ice, on account of its impurity. There is a prevailing notion that water in freezing purifies itself of all kinds of contamination. This is true only to a very limited extent. The larger parti cles contained in water will in congealation tend to be expelled just as, for example, is the air from the air holes which are almost always to be seen in a pond or a river. But a great deal of careful experiment has shown that though a proportion of the invisible bacteria the water contains may be destroyed, still a large number remain alive, since many species are quite invulnerable to the action of cold. Nota ble is this the case with the germs which cause typhoid fever, which may remain alive for months, even though fast frozen in a solid block of ice. As the neighborhood of the ponds and other ice fields become more thickly settled the danger ie proportionately increased,

But artificial ice can be made practically pure. The proper way now is first to filter the water, then convert it into steam with the use of boilers; the steam condensed and again filtered in steam filterers filled with coke. The condensation is effected by placing the steam condensers in the open air on the roof of the building and circulating around them cold water pumped from wells or river, if any at hand. After leaving the cooler the water is again filtered through charcoal and conveyed to a re-boiler which extracts any impurities that the water may yet contain. It happens that water always contains some air and in order to make clear ice the formation of air bubbles must be prevented, hence boiling and the precau tions used. From this point the water is now in the proper condition to be frozen and is carried to a large, tight tank to which a hose is attached and begins. These cans, when frozen, con tain from 300 to 320 pounds of ice. In the freezing process of the Mexico Crystal Ice company anhydrous ammo ma is employed. Through the coils of iron pipe the liquid ammonia is run, passing through a small orifice from the containing tanks into the coils. Evaporating rapidly the ammonia cools the brine surrounding this system of pipes down to 15 to 18 degrees Fahrenheit or about 15 degrees below freezing point.

This rapidly draws the heat from the water contained in the can. The heat passes first to the circulating brine and then to the coil with the result that the The Housewife is Interested! can is frozen it is picked up by a crane The Flower Grower is Interested! degrees Fahrenheit, which melts the ice sufficiently to release the can and the ice is then ready for storage.-Mexico Ledger.

Trout, well known in Detroit, Mich., real estate circles, had been saved, a reporter called on Mr. Trout at his office, 103 Griswold Avenue. Mr. Trout showed some hesitancy in giving his opinion for publication, but finally said: "Circumstances and a father's love for his child forced me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but not until the whole medical profession had exhausted their skill. At the age of fourteen we had to take our daughter from school owing to her health. Before this she had been in the best of health, happy and in the best of spirits. She began to fall away and became pale and languid. She was so weak that she would fall down in a faint every time she tried to walk unsupported. The best of physicians attended her, but she continued to grow weaker and seemed to be gradually fading away.

"When she had taken two boxes she was strong enough to leave her bed, and in less than six months was something like herself. To-day she is entirely cured, and is a big, strong, healthy girl, weighing 130 pounds, and has never had a sick day since.

"I do not think she uses them now, though I always keep them in the house. My wife and I have recommended them to our neighbors, and sent a few to another young girl who seems to be in the same condition as my daughter. Had not Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my daughter's life, I would not recommend them to any one. I know they do all and more than is claimed for them, and I am glad to recommend them to the world. I know Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People saved my daughter's life, and that is enough for me."

Has Congress Been Slow?

In this connection it is interesting to inquire whether congress has really been slow in its work on the tariff bill. and this inquiry develops the remark able fact that no president since Wash ington had an opportunity to attach his signature to a tariff law within as brief ited F. B. Trout.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this a space of time after his inauguration as "When she was fifteen she weighed only ninety pounds, and the doctors said it was anæmia. Several physicians said she might outgrow it, but that it would no doubt terminate in consumption. No doctor we had could help her, and we concluded ourselves, we must lose our child, as she was growing weaker every day.

"We had tried all the well-known remedies, and finally about a year ago I bought a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and took them home. That day I had read of a case about the same as my daughter's, and decided to give them a trial, though I must confess I did not have much faith. Before she had taken all of the first box we noticed a change for the better. She, however, gained strength daily did not sign his first tariff act until August 5, 1861. "Jefferson Still Lives."

Mr. Bryan, the late Democratic and Popocratic candidate for the Presidency. made an address before the literary societies of the University of Virginia last week, which he entitled "Jefferson Still Lives." These three words were part of the devout and patriotic exclamation of John Adams as he lay dying in Massa chusetts on the Fourth of July, 1826, not knowing, when he spoke them, that the eyes of his great colleague in nearly cial business a specialty. Office over successor in the Presidency, were at almost the same moment closing in death. Fortunate is it, indeed, for the coun try that Jefferson's pure political prin ciples are still the most potent forces in the direction of the republic. Were they not, Mr. Bryan would now be president, and, under the name of a spurious Democracy, we should be embarked, as a nation, on as unknown and tic revolution. In the last campaign neither Mr. Bryan nor any of his adherents was able to find a line in the teachings of Jefferson to sustain the dishonest financial plank of the Chicago platform. On the contrary, in those teachings the condemnation of it stood out, cold, clear, conclusive. And so it was with all the other Populistic quackeries set forth in that monstrous document under the label of Democracy. Tried by the Jeffersonian Oregon, - Missouritest they were, each and all, heretical, and at the polls the people so stamped

That verdict was majestic proof of th great truth that "Jefferson still lives." If Mr. Bryan had learned it at last, the esson would be of priceless value to him; but his words were evidently only parrot chatter, for he continues on a course which runs counter to the spirit and precept of the political teachings and philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. "Last summer one of our grand chil-
